Academic Costumes

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduating exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with "trailing elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material such as velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the University faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities - white	Medicine - green
Commerce, Accountancy,	Music - pink
Business - drab	Nursing - apricot
Education - light blue	Philosophy - dark blue
Engineering - orange	Physical Education - sage green
Fine Arts - brown	Science - golden yellow
Journalism - crimson	Social Science - cream
Law - purple	Theology - scarlet
Library Science - lemon	Veterinary Science - gray

The University Mace

The practice of carrying a mace in academic processions dates to medieval times in England when a person bearing a mace, a formidable weapon, walked in front of the highest-ranking official as they entered and departed ceremonial occasions, to protect him or her from personal injury.

As adapted by European and American universities, the mace has become a symbol of office of the institution's president and is carried by a distinguished member of the faculty. At Morehead State, the joint office of faculty grand marshal and mace bearer is held by the current recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award.

The current mace of Morehead State University was fashioned from Eastern Kentucky walnut in 1984 by John S. VanHoose, a retired faculty member from the Department of Industrial and Engineering Technology.

Commencement Profiles

Dr. Wayne D. Andrews, a New England native who made Appalachia his adopted home, has served since January 1, 2005, as the 13th president of Morehead State University.

He is a graduate of Fitchburg State College in Massachusetts where he earned a B.S. degree in 1974 and of West Virginia University where he received a master's in 1976 and a doctorate in 1977.

Dr. Andrews has nearly 35 years of higher education experience at three public, comprehensive universities: Morehead State, East Tennessee State and Illinois State. He has served in a variety of roles, including a tenured professorship in engineering technology, department chair, executive assistant to the president, vice president for student affairs, vice president for administration, vice president for administration and chief operating officer and president. His potential for leadership was recognized in 1993 with his selection as a Fellow of the American Council on Education (ACE).

He was appointed by Gov. Ernie Fletcher and then reappointed by Gov. Steve Beshear as one of Kentucky's five representatives on the Southern Regional Education Board. He has served as president of the Ohio Valley Conference.

Dr. Andrews is an Army veteran whose hobbies include restoration of antique clocks and the singing and playing of traditional music. He and his wife of 38 years, Susan, a retired elementary school reading specialist, have two adult children, Josh and Jill.

President and Mrs. Andrews reside on campus in the President's Home which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Edfred L. "Ed" Shannon Jr. of Whittier, Calif., will receive an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree posthumously.

He and his wife, Ruth B. Shannon, have been recognized by numerous organizations for their philanthropic endeavors and humanitarian efforts, individually and as a couple.

The pair met on the MSU campus where he was a math major and she was pursuing a teaching degree. They have maintained strong ties with the University and established the Ruth Boggs Shannon and E.L. Shannon Jr. Scholarship Endowment, as well as the Shannon Scholarship Endowment for students who have chosen teaching as a career.

Shannon left the campus to serve in World War II. Upon his return, the couple married and moved to California. He enrolled in The University of California at Berkeley, completed a degree in petroleum engineering, and took a job with Union Oil Company. He became an oil executive and gained worldwide stature for his work with the Santa Fe Drilling Company, the forerunner of Santa Fe International. At 35, Shannon became president of the company and then served as CEO and chairman for more than 30 years. He took the small drilling company to an historic $2.5 billion sale to the Kuwaiti government.

His work moved the family to locations around the world, including Australia, Peru and Venezuela. In 1960, he transferred back to California where he continued to successfully move up the corporate ladder. His company was listed on the New York Stock Exchange in 1962.

Following the steady growth and mergers of his company, Shannon retired in 1994 as chairman and CEO of Santa Fe International Corporation. He continued to stay involved in outside directorships, travel and working with his wife on community service projects.

He was a member of the board of several major corporations including Consolidated Freightways, Coca Cola Bottling Company of Los Angeles and Boy Scouts of America Los Angeles Council, and a founding member of the Nixon Library and Birthplace Foundation and the Autry National Center, and was instrumental in the Ed L. Shannon Tower at Whittier's Presbyterian Intercommunity Hospital.

Shannon was known by world leaders, former presidents, Congressmen, doctors and noted individuals from all walks of life. His earned the reputation of a well-respected businessman because of his generosity and desire to improve the community, especially in the area where he lived.

The Shannons have three children, eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Joelle Sprague is today's morning commencement speaker. A graduate of Anderson County High School, she is the daughter of Jeff and Linda Sprague of Lawrenceburg.

She is a candidate for a bachelor's degree in middle grades education with an emphases in social studies and language arts.

Sprague has maintained a 4.0 GPA and has been a member of the dean's list every semester at MSU. She was the 2010 recipient of the "Middle Grades Education Student of the Year" award.

Sprague presented "Are we keeping it real? Engaging Learners using Analogies and Objective Inquiry" with Dr. Kimberlee Sharp in March at the Tennessee Council for the Social Studies, and at MSU's "Celebration of Student Scholarship" in April.

She attended the 2008 Emerging Leaders Symposium along with being recognized at the 2008 Academic Awards Convocation. Sprague was inducted into the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi in 2009.

A former soccer player for MSU, she was a recipient of the Ohio Valley Conference Academic Medal of Honor and a member of the OVC Commissioner's Honor Roll.

She has held numerous titles for Kappa Delta Sorority, including treasurer and chair of academic excellence, intramural and homecoming committees.

Sprague was vice president of Kappa Delta Pi (international honor society in education) and has served as secretary for the geography club, worked the survivor table for MSU's Relay for Life event in 2008 and 2009, and was a Sunday school teacher's aide at the Newman Center.

Upon graduation, she will spend a month in Vietnam, and then begin work on a master's degree in history with the goal of pursuing a Ph.D. degree.

Britney Yvonne Huron is today's afternoon commencement speaker. A graduate of Mason County High School, she is the daughter of Brian and Kelly Huron of Maysville.

She is a candidate for a bachelor's degree in biology, with emphases in environmental science and regional analysis and public policy.

Huron has maintained a 4.0 GPA and has been supported by the Commonwealth Scholarship, Jerry F. Howell Sr. Scholarship for Environmental Science majors, and IRAPP academic scholarships. She has been an active member of the Environmental Science Club and has served as president for the last semester.

In the Department of Biology and Chemistry, she participated in the Undergraduate Research Fellowship Program, including working for Dr. David Smith, associate professor of biology, monitoring biological early warning systems and also conducting research with Dr. Brian Reeder, professor of biology, on ecological modeling of energy flow through hatchery ponds.

A research assistant under Dr. Timothy Hare, associate professor of anthropology, and Dr. Christine E. McMichael, associate professor of geography, in the Institute for Regional Analysis and Public Policy, Huron conducted research on incidence of disease over different climate regimes of Kentucky which was presented in several forums including MSU's Celebration of Student Scholarship and the 2008 Posters-At-The-Capitol in Frankfort.

During her time in the IRAPP program, she and other students presented class research on civic capacity and community development in Appalachia at The Appalachian Teaching Project in Washington, D.C.

Besides her research involvement on campus, Huron was active in service-learning internships outside the University. These internships included work as a physical science technician for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency near Cincinnati in the summer of 2009, and as a planning and development intern at Buffalo Trace ADD of Maysville in spring of 2009.

She was the 2009 recipient of the Outstanding Environmental Science Student Award presented by the College of Science and Technology, and this year was recognized as the Outstanding Undergraduate Student in the Department of Biology and Chemistry and Outstanding Undergraduate Student in the Institute for Regional Analysis and Public Policy.

Huron will seek a master's degree in biology/ecology after graduating from MSU.

Class of 2010

Winter Commencement

Saturday, December 18, 2010

Safety Notices

To ensure your safety during today's ceremony please take note of the following:

1. Smoking, lighters, and open flames are not permitted in the arena at any time.
2. Locate your nearest exit. In the unlikely event of an emergency, follow the directions of the event staff and ushers. Do not follow the police, they will be going to the scene of the emergency. You will be directed to a safe area away from the arena.

Academic Costumes

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduating exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with "trailing elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material such as velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the University faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities - white
Commerce, Accountancy,
Business - drab
Education - light blue
Engineering - orange
Fine Arts - brown
Journalism - crimson
Law - purple
Library Science - lemon

Medicine - green
Music - pink
Nursing - apricot
Philosophy - dark blue
Physical Education - sage green
Science - golden yellow
Social Science - cream
Theology - scarlet
Veterinary Science - gray

Alma Mater

(The audience is invited to participate.)

Far above the rolling campus,
Resting in the dale,
Stands the dear old Alma Mater
We will always hail.
Shout in chorus, raise your voices,
Blue and Gold - praise you.
Winning through to fame and glory,
Dear old MSU.

The University Mace

The practice of carrying a mace in academic processions dates to medieval times in England when a person bearing a mace, a formidable weapon, walked in front of the highest-ranking official as they entered and departed ceremonial occasions, to protect him or her from personal injury.

As adapted by European and American universities, the mace has become a symbol of office of the institution's president and is carried by a distinguished member of the faculty. At Morehead State, the joint office of faculty grand marshal and mace bearer is held by the current recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award.

The current mace of Morehead State University was fashioned from Eastern Kentucky walnut in 1984 by John S. VanHoose, a retired faculty member from the Department of Industrial and Engineering Technology.

Commencement Profiles

Dr. Wayne D. Andrews, a New England native who made Appalachia his adopted home, has served since January 1, 2005, as the 13th president of Morehead State University.

He is a graduate of Fitchburg State College in Massachusetts where he earned a B.S. degree in 1974 and of West Virginia University where he received a master's in 1976 and a doctorate in 1977.

Dr. Andrews has 32 years of higher education experience at three public, comprehensive universities: Morehead State, East Tennessee State and Illinois State. He has served in a variety of roles, including a tenured professorship in engineering technology, department chair, executive assistant to the president, vice president for student affairs, vice president for administration, vice president for administration and chief operating officer and president. His potential for leadership was recognized in 1993 with his selection as a Fellow of the American Council on Education (ACE).

He was appointed by Gov. Ernie Fletcher and then reappointed by Gov. Steve Beshear as one of Kentucky's five representatives on the Southern Regional Education Board. He has served as president of the Ohio Valley Conference.

Dr. Andrews is an Army veteran whose hobbies include restoration of antique clocks and the singing and playing of traditional music. He and his wife of 39 years, Susan, a retired elementary school reading specialist, have two adult children, Josh and Jill.

President and Mrs. Andrews reside on campus in the President's Home which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Mary Lynne White of Mount Sterling is today's student speaker.

A graduate of Montgomery County High School, she is the daughter of Kim and Charles White, Jr. of Mount Sterling. She is a candidate for a bachelor's degree in business, with an emphasis in management.

White has been on the Dean's List for eight consecutive semesters. She has been supported by the Presidential, Alumni and the Kentucky Education Excellence scholarships. She served as a member of Student Activities Council during her sophomore and junior years and received the Most Creative Member Award in 2009.

During her time with Student Activities Council, she coordinated various art projects for public relations purposes for the group and helped organize and implement their annual Dance Marathon, benefitting the Children's Miracle Network.

White is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma International Honor Society, and in the spring semester of 2010, she was named Outstanding Management and Marketing Department Student in the College of Business and Public Affairs. She also serves as a deacon at First Christian Church in Mt. Sterling.

After graduating from Morehead State University, White plans to start work and eventually continue her education by pursuing a master's degree in business, with an emphasis in human resource management.
